Early Usages

Second Day Usage:
April 27, 1894
Honolulu to Mexico, Missouri.

Reverse, "Sample of the New 1¢ postal issued this day - April 26th 1894 - W. O. Lackland"

Third Day: April 28, 1894, Honolulu to Leipzig.
San Francisco and New York transit marks.

Foreign Destinations

Although not valid for the UPU, the Iolani Palace card was generally accepted for 1¢ and uprated with an additional 1¢ adhesive stamp to make the 2¢ UPU rate.

Africa

1896 Hilo, Hawaii to Alexandria, Egypt; Honolulu, San Francisco, and New York transit marks.

South America

1894 Honolulu to Buenos Aires, Argentina; manuscript "via San Francisco & New York" with San Francisco transit mark.

Europe

1897, Honolulu to The Hague, Netherlands;
Collection handstamp (S2)
"COLL. 3.50 P. M."; and
San Francisco transit.
1¢ Overpaid.

1895, Honolulu to Zurich,
Switzerland; 2¢ Overpaid.

Foreign Destinations

Pacific Islands

1899, Honolulu to
Mulifanua, Apia,
Samoa Islands.
Nominally independent,
Apia would be German
Samoa year's end.

1898, Honolulu
to Suva, Fiji.

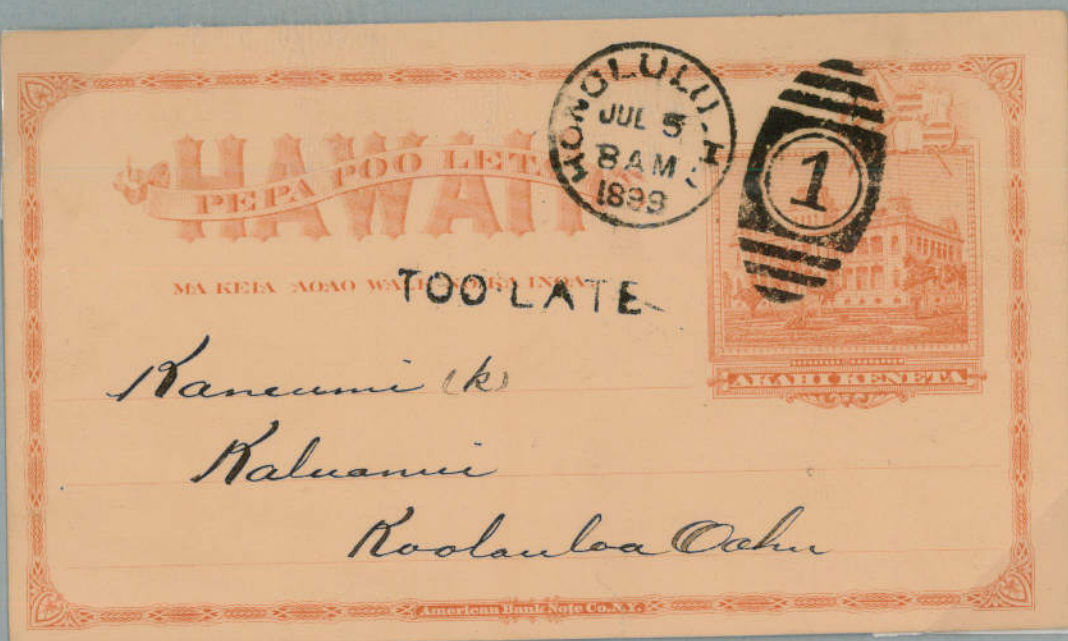

1899, Honolulu to
Kamo, New Zealand.

Auxiliary Markings

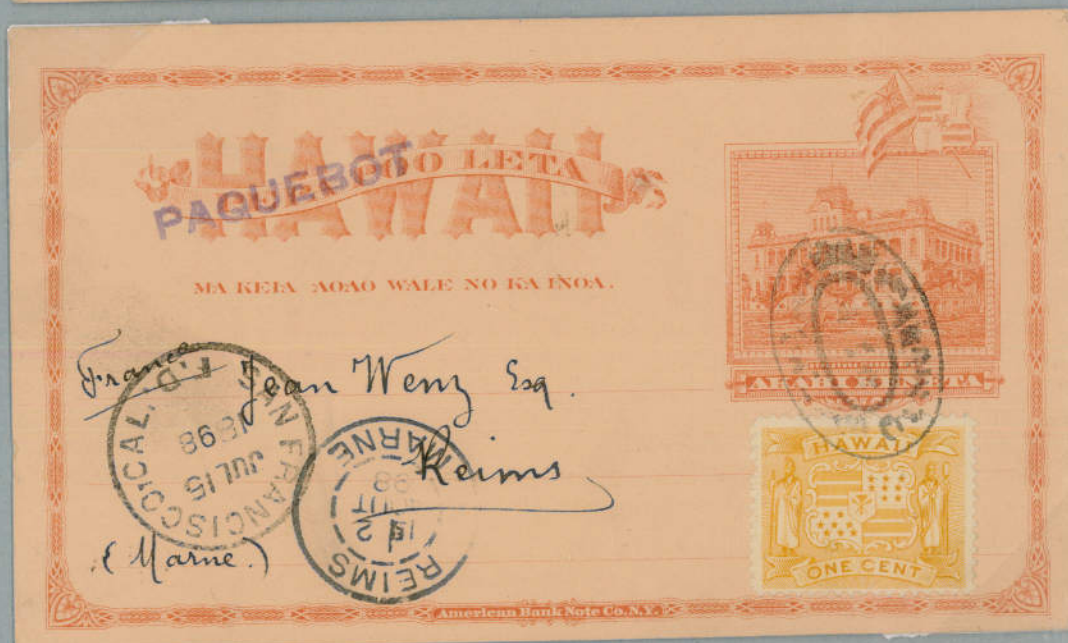

Too Late

July 5, 1899 – having missed a mail dispatch to Koolauloa, the card was marked and held for the next dispatch. Latest recorded use of this marking. (1RRRR)

Paquebot

July 8, 1898 – to Reims, France. Written aboard a ship in Honolulu harbor. The purple "PAQUEBOT" and mute double oval were applied to ship mail received in San Francisco along with "F.D." date stamp.

Damaged

April 22, 1897 – Honolulu to New York with San Francisco transit. The "Received Contents Damaged" handstamp was applied in New York; water also removed a stamp at lower right.

Auxiliary Markings

U.P.U. postage due charges were inconsistently applied in Honolulu.

No credit given for the postal card. 15 centimes due includes the UPU rate plus the 5-centime surcharge. 1894, Honolulu to Bialystok, Russia with San Francisco F.D. transit and Bialystok receiving mark. Russian postage due oval with manuscript 12 ko-pecks.

Incorrectly charged. If no credit were given for the card and the surcharge were added, only 1¢, or 5 centimes would be due. 1894, Honolulu to Ulm, Germany with San Francisco F.D. transit and Ulm Bahnhof receiving marks. The German Post Office translated the postage due charge to 20 pfennig in blue crayon.

Postal card credited for 1¢. Charged only 1¢, or 5 centimes as the surcharge for U.S. mail had ceased in 1883. Honolulu to New York, 1894. The 5 centimes due was doubled and collected with a pre-canceled 2¢ stamp.

Postage Due

Final Usages

June 13, 1900, the last day of validity for Hawaiian stamps and postal stationery.

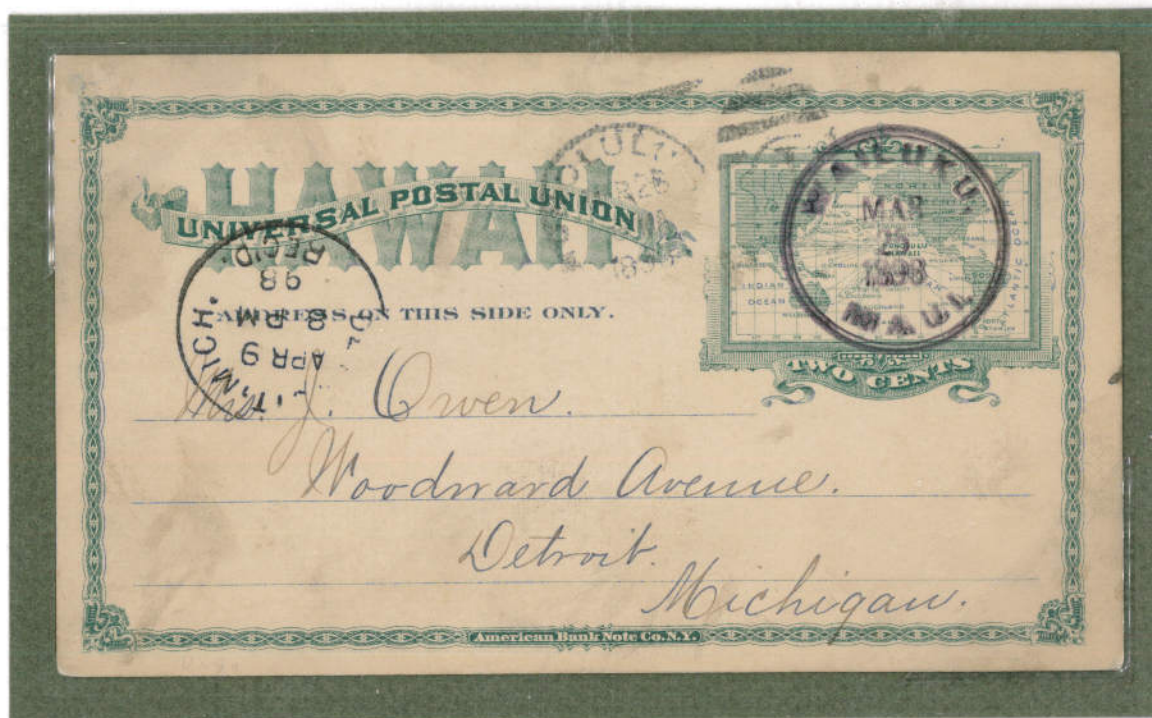

June 12, 1900, Honolulu:
"Dear Emma ... On 14
June 00 we become under American Administration. This is the last card from me under Hawaiian administration."

June 13, 1900, Waimea:
"we beg to say that we do not care to have any Ci-mehas Cigars at the price mentioned."

Iolani Palace card no longer valid, U.S. 2¢ red. Type III paid the U.P.U. rate to Hannover Rare 3-line provisional cancel. "Kekaha, Kauai, Hawaii" used for two months until U.S. date stamp arrived. June 17, 1900 Honolulu H.I. duplex transit marking.

Honolulu June 24th 1898.

My dear sister:-

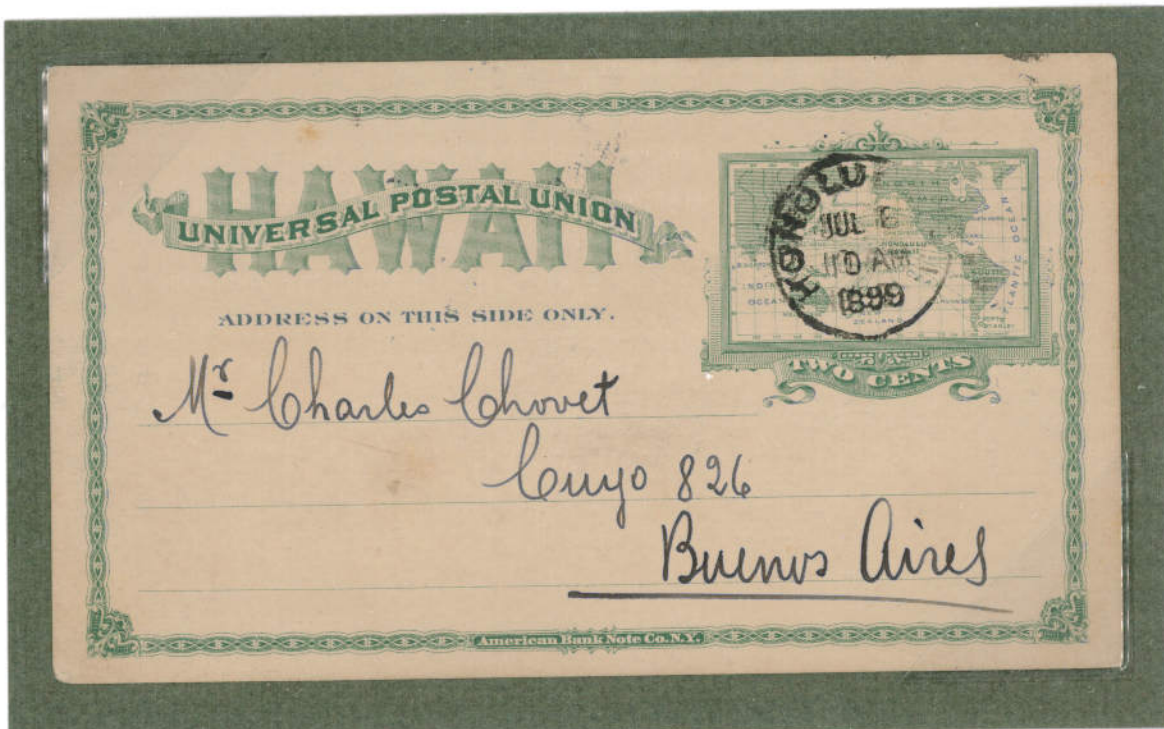

I dropped you a few lines this morning, since then our regiment has landed and marched in a body to the palace formerly occupied by Queen Kii, but since the establishment of the republic is used as a government building. The palace contains many interesting things relating to the former rulers & princes. The grounds surrounding the palace is a place fit "for the gods." In this Paradise covered with a luxuriant growth of large & most beautiful tropical plants, we were feasted by our former countrymen who have adopted this fertile island as their home & who hope soon to have it annexed to their mother country. Here we sat waited upon by fairy looking ladies, enjoying the most delicious fruits & refreshing drinks, sheltered from the sun by booth made of palm trees and fanned by the gentle zephyrs from the Pacific. It all seems like a dream. With love to all,
Your brother, C. Lawrence.
