The Bay View post office was located in a drug store operated by Joseph Feeney. When James Kelly took over as post master the office was located in a building on the corner of New York Avenue (Bay Street) and Maryland Avenue. A house in the rear occupied by a Mr. Mc Tenney caught fire and as a result the building in which the post office was situated was destroyed by the fire.

Cover from Wabasha, Minnesota, cancelled on August 19, 1862, addressed to a Miss Ella F. Shilton in Bay View, Staten Island, New York. The addressee had moved to Middlebury, Connecticut. The cover was manuscript cancelled at Bay View on August 22, 1862 and forwarded with the additional charge of three cents in manuscript. ("Forwarded 3")

ELTINGVILLE

RICHMOND COUNTY, NEW YORK

Eltingville was formerly served by Sea Side. Named for a resident named Elting. In the days of plank roads this part of Staten Island was a popular resort area. The plank road which went through Eltingville started at the Brergen Point Ferry in Port Richmond and ran through Granitville, Bull's Head, New Springville, Green Ridge and ended at Sea Side.

The Fresh Kills Bridge was erected by the Plank Road Company and the road leading from Green Ridge to the Amboy Road at Eltingville was built on private property. (Staten Island Histoy, Morris, Vol. 2. Page 442)

NOTE; Eltingville was between Green Ridge and Sea Side.

you twofast, I will try to compose myself a little, and begin - This week we expected and anticipated the pleasure of resigning our Command at this post, and Commencing an attack in Orang County, but yesterday there was an order arrived from Head Quarters, that has flus--tered our minds and broke our calculation -
It was to the effect, Our Regiment was to be Consolidated in a detachment and Capt Gourley and Lt Baldwin to take command with two Squadrons Lt and all the rest of the Officers to go home and there wait untill further orders - What a Devil of an Order it is - how long Lt Baldwin ^{will} remain here or myself in Orang County we cannot tell
But I am to carry on the war in Goshen

FOX HILLS STATION

Fox Hills Hospital, officially known as Hoff General Hospital No.41., was built to care for the casualties of World War I. The institution was constructed on approximately one mile of land that had previously been the Fox Hills Country Club.

The U.S. Public Health Service took over the facility in 1920 and shortly afterwards a phase-out was commenced. In 1921 there were 865 employees and 530 patients, the last of whom were transferred to Sea View and other hospitals in 1923.

The Fox Hills Hospital was the scene of terrible suffering that was long remembered. However, few Staten Islanders today know that the facility ever existed.

A post office was located at the hospital. It was called Fox Hills Station. It was opened on March 25, 1918 and closed on March 31, 1922.

BAYLEY SEATON HOSPITAL

The hospital we today call Bayley Seaton was originally the Seaman's Fund and Retreat Hospital. As long ago as 1798 foreign sailors entering New York port had to pay a fee. The accumulation of these fees became a fund in the State treasury known as the Seaman's Retreat and Hospital Fund. In 1831 a law directed that such fees be paid to the trustees of the Seaman's Fund and Retreat. On October first of that year a building, with Peter S, Townsend as he first resident physician, opened on Staten Island. On July 4, 1834 the corner stone, of a new building of the Seaman's Fund and Retreat Hospital, was laid by Samuel Swartwout, President of the Trust. From this time the hospital was known as Marine Hospital.

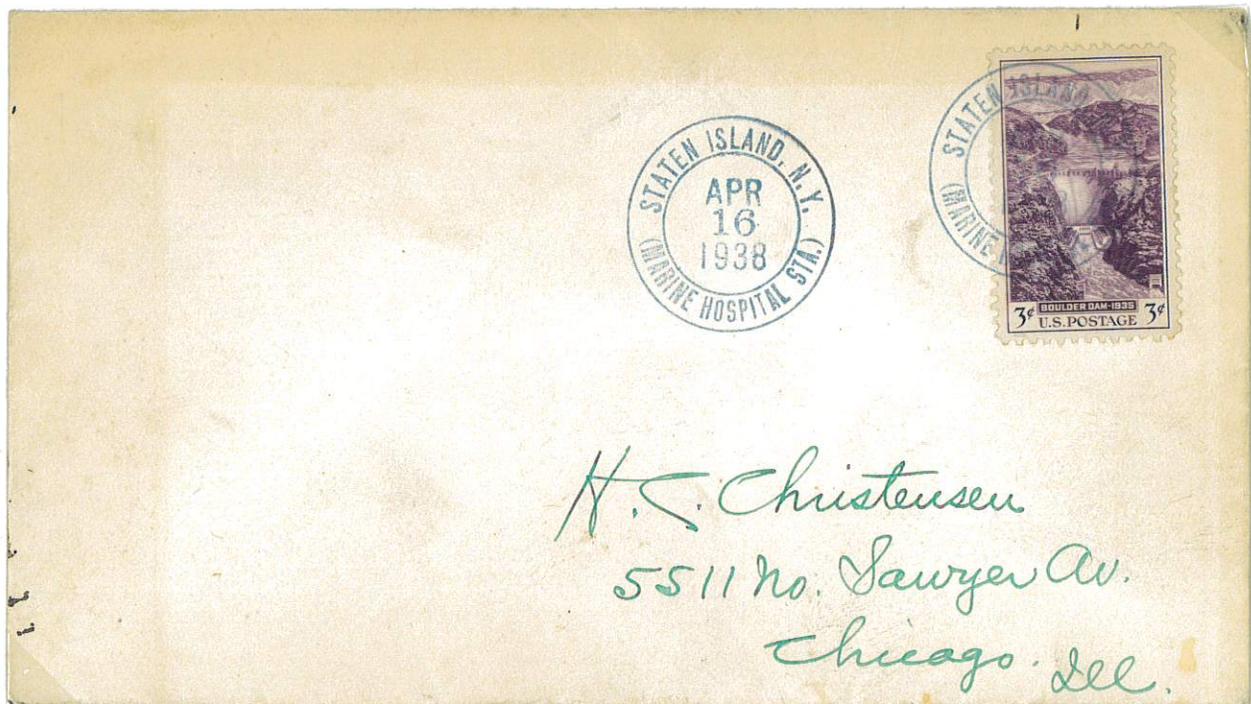

Previous to 1881 the collection of the state head tax was declared unconstitutional and the Retreat was supported by contributions of ship owners. It's support was then assumed by the Marine Society by whom its hospital was rented in 1883 and sold in 1903 to the United States Marine Hospital, No. 21, (information from Leng/Davis "Staten Island and It's People")

A post office station was opened in 1938. In general mail was carried to and from the hospital in sacks and outgoing mail was cancelled at the general post office.

MILLER FIELD STATION
STATEN ISLAND, NEW YORK

September 10, 1942

January 31, 1944

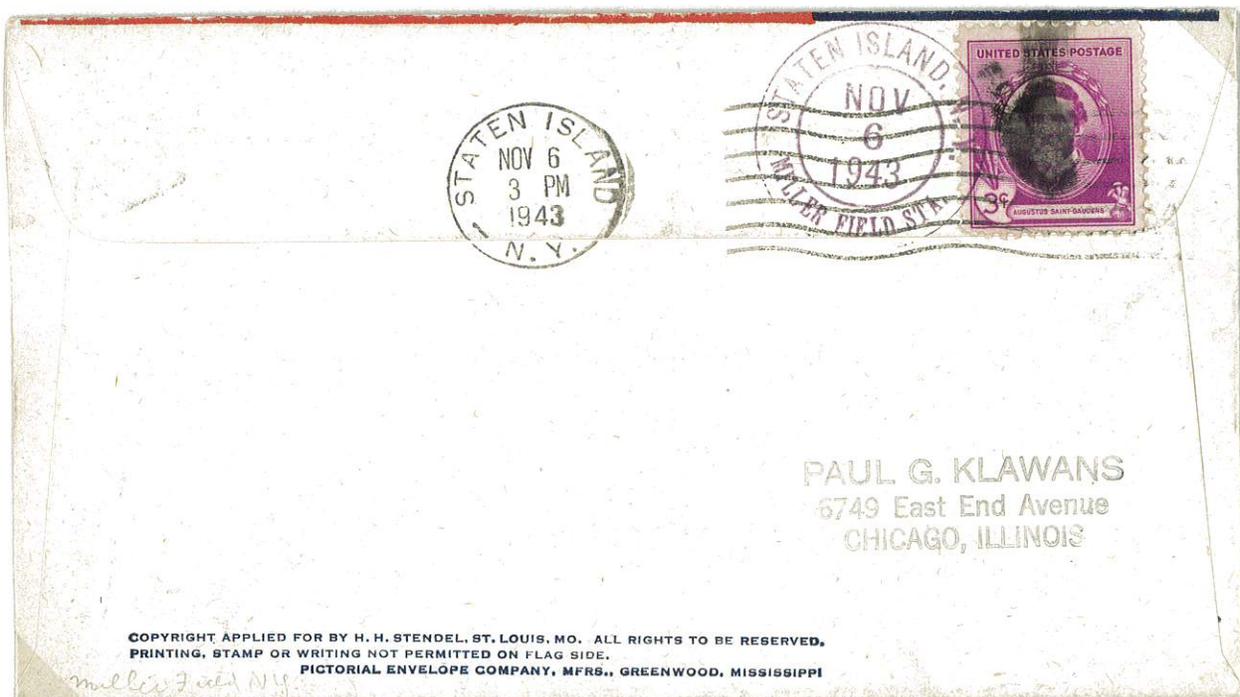

Leng/Davis page 386

Miller Field as such came into being in 1918 with the purchase by the United States of the Vanderbilt farm at New Dorp. It was named in honor of James Ely Miller, the first American aviator to be killed in combat in France. He was a graduate of Yale, and a banker in New York, who joined the service May 5, 1917 and was killed in battle over the lines at Javincourt on March 9, 1918. In the old Vanderbilt home now lives the Military commandant of the operations in this field dedicated to Captain Miller's memory where daily aeroplanes and hydroplanes are seen.

Leng/Davis page 966

The Vanderbilt farm was purchased by the government for an aviation field. Staten Island, Dorothy Valentine Smith, page 218.9.

Miller Field at New Dorp was named for the first aviator with an American unit killed in France during World War I. Acquired by the Army in 1919 and used over half a century as an air coast defense station, a testing place for Admiral Byrd's plane used in Antarctica, for Civil Air Patrol, and Green Beret Units, National Guard Aviation and other purposes, Miller Field is now (1970) the target of all kinds of proposals. The mid-air collision between a United Airlines DC-8 and a TWA Constellation on December 16, 1960 occurred over Miller Field.

Milliken Brothers' Structural Iron Works and Rolling Mill, originally founded in 1857, erected a large plant near the Elizabeth Ferry, Holland Hook in 1903. The Staten Island factory was one of the world' largest manufacturers of steel products. After the steel trusts were formed, Milliken Brothers dissolved in 1917. The plant was converted into Downey's Shipyard which had large government contracts during World War I. In 1927 this property was th site of the Bellanca Aero-plane Corporation.

The post office which was situated on the water side of the Shore Road now Richmopnd Terrace was no doubt named after the Milliken Brothers' Plant.

Addressed to Johannesburg, South Africa it arrived there while the Boer War was in progress. It is interesting to note that in spite of the fact that the contents are clearly visible on both sides of the card it was reviewed by a censor who applied the censor stamp which appears over the one cent stamp on the face of the card.

NEW DORP POST MARK 1909

Mail was accepted at Midland Beach during several summer season perriods however there was no post office there and all such mail was canceled at New Dorp.

The year 1909 is determined from the fact that the stamps were issued in December 1908 and a post office was established at Midland Beach in 1910. Therefore this cover would have been used in the summer of 1909.

LETTER ENCLOSED IN THE AUSTRALIA TO ENGLAND CHRISTMAS MAIL COVER

SESQUICENTENIAL FAIR

In celebration of the 150th anniversary of the first National Peace Conference which held in the Conference House (Billog House) at Tottenville on September 3, 1776 Staten Island held a Sesquicentennial Celebration from September 3,-11,1926.

A letter from the Sesquicentennial Commission of Staten Island to the Mayor of Philadelphia where the Sesquicentennial International Exposition was being held was carried by Boy Scouts of Staten Island and New Jersey along what had been the Revolutionary post road. Unfortunately no mail other than the hand carried message was officially connected with this event. However, it appears that a Sesquicentennial Fair may have taken place prior to the official event.. Probably at Miller Field because the cover which is illustrated below appears to have participated in the fair and was part of the souvenir mail carried.

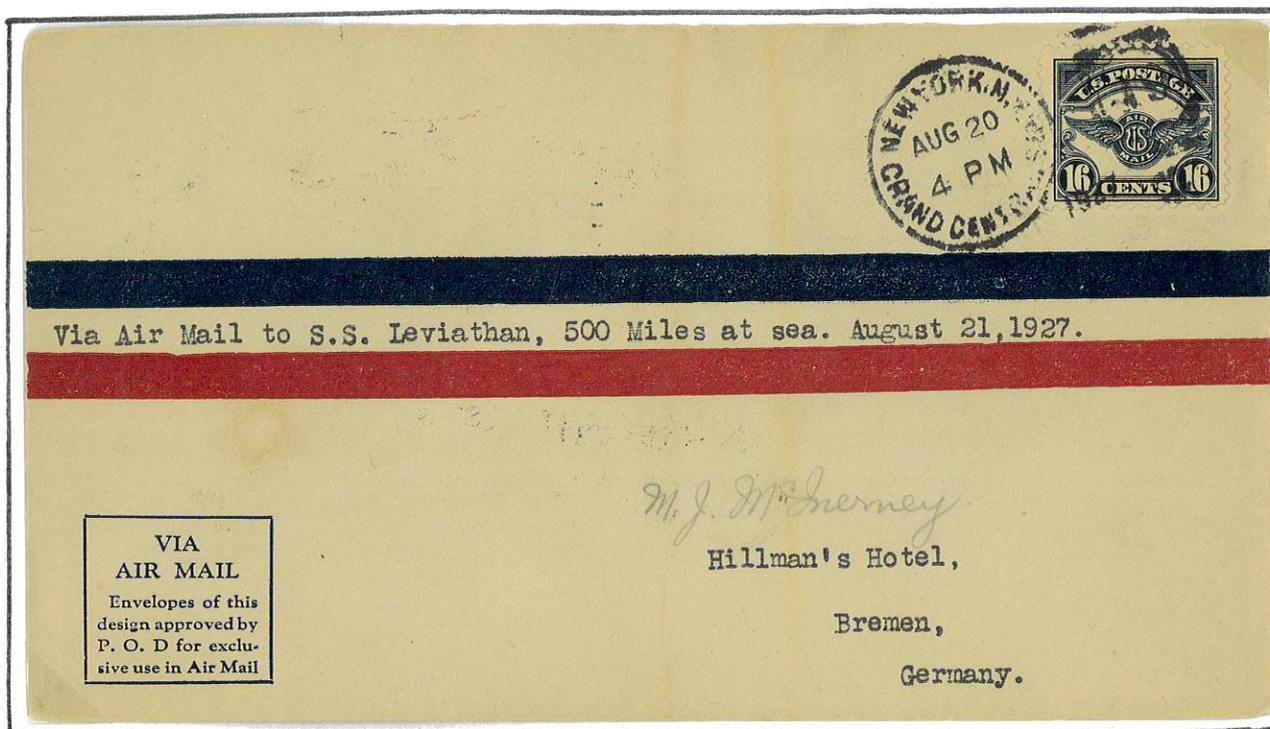

It should be noted that air planes were known to have operated on Staten Island from as early as 1907. However, this is the earliest known example of mail carried by air that we have found.

OLD FRESH KILLS BRIDGE. Also known as Plank Road Bridge, Draw Bridge (Walling, 1859), Garretson's Bridge and Long Bridge

. In December, 1856, an advertisement appeared in the Staten Islander, stating that, "the bridge and causeway over the Fresh Kills Creek and Meadow from the Fresh Kills to De Puy's Corner at Springville" would be sold at public auction on the 20th of the month. in the issue of December 31st, 1856, under the heading of "The Bridge" appears the following: "The Pt Richmond and Fresh Kills Plank Road Bridge, which was recently offered to the county for $2,000, has been sold at auction to Jacob Garretson, for six hundred and one dollars." Mr Jacob C. Garretson subsequently offered (Staten Islander, January 3d, 1856) to place the bridge and causeways leading thereto in good condition, provided that the towns of Northfield and Westfield would each pay $633.33. (See Church Road and Garretson's Road) The county has recently had a new bridge built on the site of the old one. It is certain that a great deal more information exists that relates to the roads, bridges and ferries over which early mail on Staten Island was carried either by post riders or on the many stage companies that operated here. However we believe that the information provided will give a good general idea of these facilities.

PORT RICHMOND POST MARK MARCH 8, 1917.

On February 1, 1917, all Post Offices in Richmond County were consolidated under the designation Staten Island. Branch offices were known as stations and the post marks applied by such offices usually indicated their status as a station.

This cover posted on March 8, 1917 bears the same type of cancellation in use prior to consolidation and shows Port Richmond as the dispatch office rather than Port Richmond Station of Staten Island.

STATEN ISLAND

POSTAL HISTORY

As far as we can determine, Prince's Bay was the name intended for this area of Staten Island and when the name of the post office was changed from Lemon Creek on April 17, 1860, it became Prince's Bay. Local use included Princebay, Prince's Bay, Prince Bay, Princes Bay and Princess Bay and the post office in an attempt to accommodate local use, changed the name several times.

This cover from Purling, N. Y. on May 13, 1910 is addressed to Peter Polworth, Princess Bay, Staten Island, N.Y. The received mark shows Princebay while the post office at this time was Prince Bay.

Prospectus.

The undersigned will commence, early in the year 1861, in the City of New York a WEEKLY NEWSPAPER, to be called

THE AGE.

It will be a large and handsome paper, of the usual quarto form of eight pages, with six wide columns to a page—forty-eight columns; making it similar in size and appearance to the first-class of New York Weeklies.

Each of the eight pages of THE AGE will contain as much matter as a pamphlet of twenty-four pages; and the whole paper of eight pages, or forty-eight columns, will be equal to a fashionable volume of two hundred pages.

THE AGE will be devoted to Literature, Science, Art, Education, Morals, Politics, Society, the News of the World, and every kind of useful and interesting information.

It will be a Family Paper. Its ample pages will contain a large supply of the most attractive reading for every class and age, with nothing that can injure or that should offend.

There will be brilliant Stories, Biography, Voyages, Travels, Manners and Customs, Reviews, Translations, with special attention to Sanitary and Social Reform, Agriculture, Domestic Economy, Discoveries and Inventions, Out-door and In-door Recreations and Amusements, all Popular Movements, Business Affairs, Markets, and Statistics.

The first object of the Editor will be to make THE AGE as interesting and interesting as possible, that will attract the largest number of readers. Therefore, while it is to be a Family Paper, and Fun, will be the best that can be given. Practical interests will never be neglected, and Commercial Statistics, will be given.

While most of our periodicals are devoted to the contents of others, the Editor of THE AGE offers the freshest, the most interesting, and whatever it may be found, and whatever it may be found, and whatever it may be found, "get the best," serve it up in the cheapest rate, and trust to the approval of the public.

In the first number of THE AGE, the Editor will give a full and complete American Life, by a celebrated author.

Mr. Maynard,

Oct. 18, 1850. Letter paid in cash at Sheffield, England. Black indistinct receiving mark on face looks like an undated circular MORTON STREET. Red 1/- mark on face shows 1 shilling (24¢) paid.

B. 562

Oct. 19. Liverpool Packet Letter Office oval backstamp. R.M.S. Canada sailed this date from Liverpool for Boston. 5 CENTS credits U.S. for 5¢ U.S. Inland. Boston "24" restates in U.S. currency that the equivalent to 24¢ had been prepaid. This mark, common in black for 24¢ collect, is seldom seen in red, only 1849 through 1851.

B. 701

Oct. 30. Britannia had arrived at Boston Oct. 29. This Boston Exchange Office mark restates the fact that the letter was paid.

Miss Angeline, Gorton

Alleghany Co
N. Y.

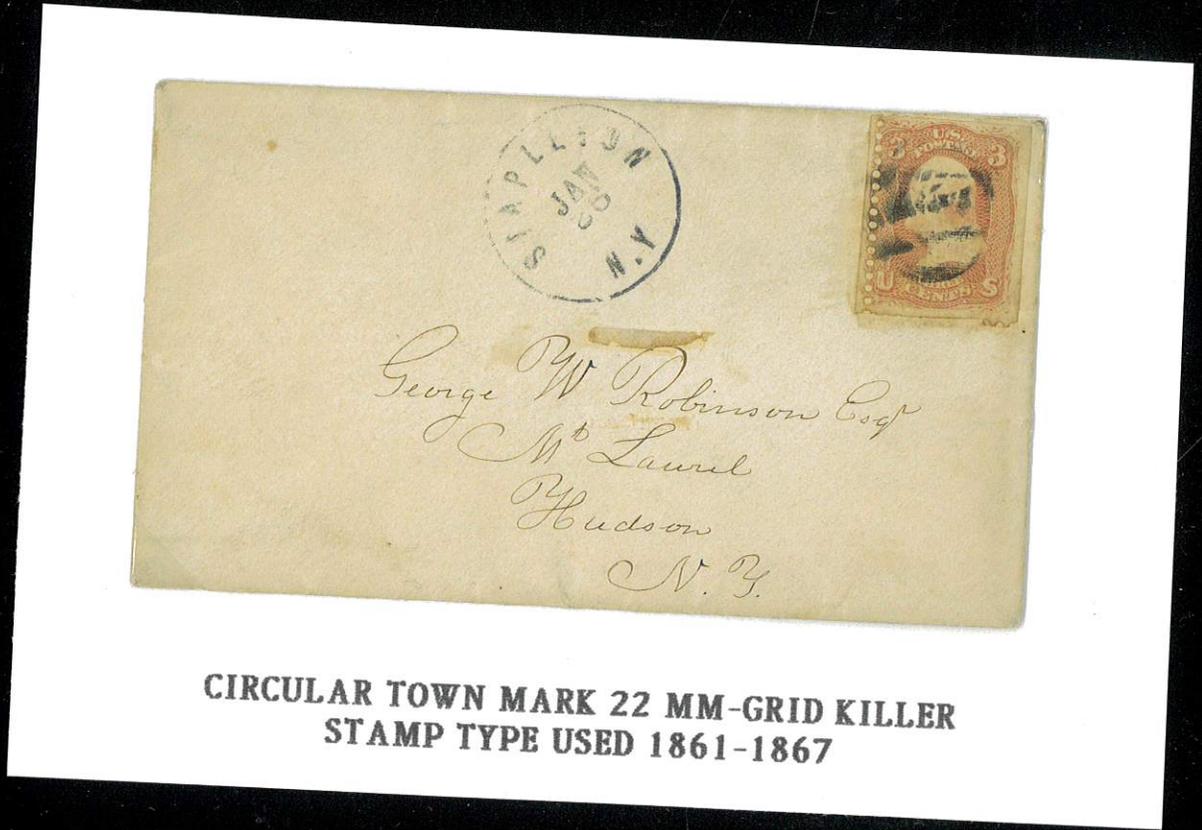

On the 26th of July, 1861 the Secretary of War authorized Col. Othniel DeForest, of New York City, to raise a regiment of cavalry. By the last of Sept. there had been gathered on Staten Island the nucleus of a fine cavalry brigade. From this assemblage of recruits was organized the Fifth New Harris Guards in honor of Senator Ira Harris of Albany. New York City had contributed liberally of men, though whole companies were raised in Essex, Wyoming, Alleghany, and Tioga counties. A few men were obtained from the States of Massachusetts, Connecticut, and New Jersey. No bounties were paid to recruits; but a bounty of $100 was promised to be paid by the United States at the expiration of service. This multi-colored cover has the Guards corner card and is addressed to a cavarlyman's wife , Mrs. Angeline Gorton . A cover similiar to this can be found in The George Walcott Collection of Civil War Patriotic Covers under item # 1217 . It has a Scotts Catalog 65 stamp and a circular date stamp from Stapleton , New York .

Dear Sir

Mr. Beecher

Also that of the Misses again in the neighborhood of that would be your statement perhaps. I am no more of your or my. Admittedly I should position enables you to go through it - give my kindest love to your whole family in which I trust I am I shall again write you - so write frequently that he so delighted to hear from you - particularly acceptate will try to if we write on his side please - so far as I understand in going out in that have so believe as possible. Ever your affectionate Elizabeth fortunes in seeing him. The second thing to look for the Elm fellow you describe - has a fine frank countenance - & he did not come over was to make this to his ear - but as both our neighbors have gone up I have an opportunity of seeing it, I must therefore describe it by comparison with mine; it would have been such an admirable feature not needed its distinction. I pray I may not have written very hastily - I hope it - first to you

Station Island Oct 19th 1843.

Your constant and unremitting kindness My Beloved Friend falls not insensibly upon me, when your first kind letter arrived I was immersed in great care and bustle, in the day writing was an impossibility and when night came, I generally found myself so exhausted as to be unequal to any thing — Thank Goodness we are "now entirely alone" that is to say free from the soul tormentors of Fleet Boarders — and I am sure the epithet is not too harsh for the very choicest of the Commodities, for are not the best of them, as much real anxiety as those who are less agreeable? — The tenth of Oct^r saw our last immated depart very "clever people" who had been here since May, we had no less than two births occurring, — and every probability of a third but fortunately they concluded to return to My^r, thence to consummate the great experiment, much to our satisfaction; as you may suppose these matters added somewhat to the "petitions" of the gentle Spirits presiding
How much I regret your Dear Sister Ellen & the Girls, ^{did not come} it would I am sure have much benefitted the health of the former and I think would have been agreeably passed by Ellen & Gertrude — it was one of those things I had fixed my heart upon with great tenacity — but was again doomed to disappointment — at the latter end of Summer when I found all hopes ^{gone} of any arrivals from your dear household, I invited two young ladies from My^r to take the place I had so fondly reserved for ~~them~~ them, they seemed to enjoy much the gaiety of the house — they had Tableaux and all sorts of gaiety none of which I saw, but heard descriptions from the Girls — at some other occasion

Postal card mailed in Brooklyn and post marked on March 29, 1902. The card addressed to West Brighton, Staten Island was offered without a stamp and was not processed. A rubber stamp "Held for Postage" was applied and subsequently a postage stamp was placed on the card. It appears that the postage was paid on April 2 from the Brooklyn Post Mark of that date. The rubber stamp "Held for Postage" and forwarded on receipt of stamp" confirms that the stamp was applied before the card entered the mail.

Receipt at West New Brighton is confirmed by the post mark applied there on April 2, 1902 at 4:30 P.M.

Dear Aunt Betty and Uncle Bob,
It is always difficult for me to know how to start letters. They are all right once they get going. I guess I started you.

I heard all about the new "fost" in the family, and how swell he looked in the uniform and wings. There is only one thing that will round out the picture. A nice long period of training in those "big box cars" he is flying in. He is actually only beginning to learn what the job of bombardier calls for. It is a lot different than at school. He has a lot of training to get yet. He will learn a lot and I know he'll come out in swell shape.

I have little I can write about. A trip or two to London - I don't like it very much - and the regular boys work most every day. The weather is very spaying here - Right now the coal.

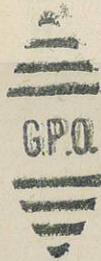

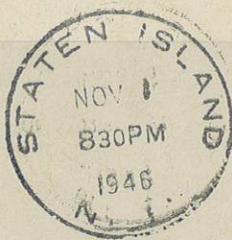

I believe he is going to a school for new equipment soon. Perhaps I'll see a little more of England then.

Thank you very much for all you've been sticking in the packages. I've been smoking my pipe lately. He still not quite sure I like smoke. I hope you are very well and I sure hope I see you and the one

The British Arrive at Staten Island

AMERICAN REVOLUTION BI-CENTENNIAL SERIES—NO. 37

Colorado "Silk" Cachet

July 2, 1776 — Frustrated in the South, the British now took aim at the Middle States, intending to seize the Hudson Valley and cut the Colonies in two. On June 10th General Howe's fleet left Halifax dropping anchor in lower New York Bay on July 2nd. Three days later the total force of some 9,000 troops, under the command of Generals Howe, Pigot, Grant and Jones, landed unopposed. The Americans braced for action but the British only established camp on Staten Island.
