

Notes on 2018 UPSS Catalog listings in the Venn collection:

The following pages are from Porter Venn's hand-notated copy of the 2018 UPSS 19th Century Postal Stationery Catalog. The items with pencil check marks at left are present in this balance lot. The lines crossed out in black are for items that were removed and offered as individual lots – these items are not present. The total UPSS value quoted in the lot description is based on these entries.

While Siegel Auction Galleries has made an effort to cross-check the Venn collection binders with his inventory pages, it may be possible for some slight discrepancies, given the volume of entires in the collection. Any bidder needing additional information on any entire or group lot may inquire with Siegel Auctions at 212-753-6421.

A common use of the one cent envelopes was for third class mail. At right is UPSS 274-5 with advertising. The preprinted address just required that the company write in the name of various cities. Note the statement vertically on the left "P.M. Deliver as addressed or to some one interested in Highways."

Specimen envelopes were circulated to promote use of envelopes. Additionally, some specimen envelopes were attached as bidder samples for postal stationery contracts as shown on the lower envelope above (with two holes punched at left for attachment to bid request). A few were prepared on direct order of the Post Office to provide examples of envelopes currently in use to important dignitaries.

Specimen envelopes generally had 'SPECIMEN' or 'CANCELED' printed on the envelope and were not valid for postal use. (For more information see UPSS book Stamped Envelope and Wrapper Specimens of the United States.)

The primary use of two cent envelopes at this time was for local (drop) letters at carrier post offices for intracity delivery.

At right is an unusual use of the two cent envelope (UPSS 349-5) for unsealed printed matter from New York to Havre, France with the scarce "Etat Unis Paq Fr/Le Havre" handstamp.

Envelopes with amber paper were generally considered first quality paper and priced the same as white envelopes. Third quality amber paper was thinner and harder and priced slightly less than first quality amber envelopes according to the schedule of January, 1875. Third quality amber envelopes were replaced with blue paper envelopes in the July, 1875 schedule.

The most common error of production is the albino envelope. This occurred when two envelope blanks fed through the press at the same time with the top one receiving ink and the bottom not. If the blanks separated before folding and gluing, an albino was produced. Albino envelopes are much less common from the 19th century than the early 20th century.

George Nesbitt essayed collars on envelope stamps like the 'advertising ring' offered by the General Post Office in Great Britain. However, no advertising collars were produced until the Reay Contract of 1870 and most are on Plimpton envelopes as shown at right.

In 1887, a letter from 3rd Asst. Postmaster General A.D. Hazen confirmed policy regarding "the printing of advertising devices around or in contiguity to the embossed stamps on government envelopes... The Department does not countenance in any way the use of envelopes prepared in this manner. The practice is in opposition to the uniform policy of the Government as to its securities ever since stamped envelopes were first issued, and is, in fact, in violation of law."

UPSS 470-5 used to Budapest, Hungary. Envelopes of this era on colored papers (blue, cream and fawn) are less common than white or amber since the differential price for second quality envelopes was sufficiently small that approximately 90% of all envelopes sold were first quality.
